I downloaded the Sample Activity Profiler from the following link It reports the loading time as 2.59 seconds, but when I looked at the index page for the survey app, the time was 2.6. I can't figure it out. Is this normal? Is there something wrong with my code? A: Download it again and it should be faster. As the commercialization of next-generation imaging systems, such as electron microscopes and electron-beam film scanners, and other types of integrated circuit imaging systems becomes more widespread, there is a need to develop the associated image processing systems with which these imaging systems may be integrated. Further, many of these imaging systems are limited in terms of their ability to reduce noise that is associated with images in the system. In related applications, the inventors have recognized a need to provide a digital image-processing system that is configured to receive digital images, and noise filtering elements that are adapted to perform a combination of filtering and averaging to reduce noise from these images. An exemplary embodiment of the present invention solves these and other problems by providing, in some instances, a system that is configured to perform noise filtering, and further provides a method of computing certain averages in terms of a composite image that includes an input image and a noise filtering image.State-owned Chinese energy company CNOOC on Tuesday said it is targeting $11.5 billion in deals for this year. The ambitious plan is an aggressive step toward regaining a status similar to that of rivals such
