Could stand to be a little more polished, but I'm hard-pressed to criticize on a free game. I just wish there was multiplayer. MusicbyArtemis Very good basic game. Could stand to be a little more polished, but I'm hard-pressed to criticize on a free game. I just wish there was multiplayer. SurpriseBy Vicky Very simple fun game that's good for what it is. The space background music was a little slow at times, but was overall pleasant to listen to. A couple of bug things I encountered - "P" button only works 1/3rd of the time and the +/i/a/p button combination is incorrect. Other than that, this is a good freeware game. Nice job! Sur

What's new:

, Better Ships & More! Recent Movement: 1. Evan and Toolie are engaged! Congratulations to the newly engaged couple! They have filled in the blank survey, so they can go to the ceremony next month (which will be actually pretty awesome since they're getting married in a church!). 2. I was thinking about the crowd size of the office. I've mentioned it before, but I am absolutely astonished at the amount of traffic we get on this site. I am so impressed by all of you guys and gals from all around the world supporting the show. I'm not trying to seem like a braggart here, because I'm very humbled by the support I receive. I am just a musician and creator of a TV show. I think people are amazing. Thank you guys and gals for supporting my kid-product! Merchandise: The Corsair XL-750 G3 is a really spectacular keyboard that I began stocking last November. Instead of stocking multiple related products, I decided to start stocking Corsair KBAs (keyboards) and was impressed by the gaming side of Corsair. They even go as far as to say, "Take Gaming to Next Level." I had to ask myself, "What would a clicker gamer look like?" And I think I made it come to life. I decided to make a better gamer website. I named it Clickclicker.com and have been wanting to add more merchandise to the site for a while now. The first thing to mention on my team is that I have gone with the name Berserker over Predator for a few reasons. This is a nerf one, but sometimes I like to nerd out a little bit with you guys, so I wanted to use a nerf term. In addition, when I got the build, I noticed that the company name is Corsair, which is the case on the outside of the PC. Therefore, I felt that the best name, for the team itself is Berserker. Its a cool name, and also we get to nerd out on Corsair a bit. The Berserker looks as badass as any Overwatch or Titanfall team. Besides, I wanted it to have a glistening look, so I went with a few red highlights, and you'll see in the photos that we don't have tons of black text as we are snobbish like the moofers.
