The proposed Biostatistics and Clinical Trials Core (BCTC) is designed to ensure that the outstanding research programs at NCHLDR are supported by modern methods in data collection and analysis. Moreover, the BCTC will provide the direction and training for NCHLDR'S growing biostatistics and clinical research capacity. In line with this goal, the BCTC will provide a central site for the enrolment of patients for clinical trials and other natural history studies. The BCTC will also build close partnerships with other African sites in clinical trials and conduct quality control at the recruitment of clinical trials in Africa. The proposed BCTC has the potential to significantly enhance the research activities of NCHLDR. In addition, the BCTC will be responsible for providing consultation services to NCHLDR'S senior biostatistician and research analysts. The aim of these services is to assist the research programs at NCHLDR and to strengthen the research capacity of NCHLDR'S biostatisticians and research analysts. The BCTC will develop networks with other researchers in HIV and skin diseases to facilitate the enrolment of patients for natural history and vaccine efficacy studies.
