Sorry, due to legal issues we are not able to offer access to certain regions and languages.Q: Creating a JFrame GUI from a Menu Bar I want to create a simple JFrame from a menu bar. If there is a way to make this easier in Eclipse, I'm certainly open to suggestions. I want to figure out how to get an object from each menu item, then how to call this object. Any help would be great. If it matters, the program will not be running off of the IDE, but will be running off of a Java file. Thanks A: Constructing a JFrame is very simple; simply call: // create a JFrame JFrame jfrm = new JFrame("My Frame"); // set the frame size jfrm.setSize(300, 250); // add your menu bar to the top of your frame JMenuBar jmb = new JMenuBar(); // create the first level of your menu JMenu fileMenu = new JMenu("File"); // add an item to the menu that will open "MyFile.class" JMenuItem openFileItem = new JMenuItem("Open File...", new MyFileAction("MyFile")); fileMenu.add(openFileItem); // add the file menu to the menu bar jmb.add(fileMenu); // now add the rest of your menu to the menu bar JMenuItem menuItem = new JMenuItem("MenuItem"); fileMenu.add(menuItem); // define a border for your frame jfrm
